Between 12 and 17 October 1953, source determined that the Artilleriewerk in Strausberg was being transferred to the Infanterie Kaserne on Klosterstrasse. Part of the library, instruction material and billeting equipment had already been moved. The transfer was to be completed by late October. Workers stated that the unit stationed at the airfield would transfer to the Artilleriewerk. During the period under review, the Infanterie Kaserne was occupied only by cadre personnel. Preparations for a departure from the Infanterie Kaserne of the cadre personnel have not been observed so far. Motor vehicles seen en route to and from the Artilleriewerk

Comment. It is possible that the artillery officer school previously stationed in the Landesjugendheim was quartered in the Infanterie Kaserne, along with the NCO school, because the Landesjugendheim was to serve other purposes. According to a new course was to start in the NCO school on 1 November. See .
